

Briefing for:

Date:

From: Neil Freer
28 Avenida Las Nubes
Santa Fe, NM 87508
505-466-1819
<http://www.neilfreer.com> (Sapiens Rising)
neil@neilfreer.com

This white paper brief is submitted as a normative scenario addressing the current planetary, species Sapiens situation. It is intended as a perspective from the leading edge of our species' development from which to view and understand us now, socially, culturally, and evolutionarily, all these elements being brought to bear on the current socio-economic-political arena. I have held this paper to barely above outline form for the sake of brevity and intend to publish it in Kindle book format, title Sapiens Rising, within the year.

We are already into a profound transmutation of our species, which will characterize this 21st Century, and it is no longer feasible to think in partial terms of national, cultural, religious, or civilizational adjustments and solutions. The novel synthesis and world view advanced in this work subsumes partial glimpses of a new politic, humanistic new world order, enlightened eco-economics, a third culture, all knowledge united in a grand consilience, and cerebral turning points. We now have the keys to integrate our past with our present and future in the concept of generic humanity, the critical factor for achieving planetary peace, unity ---- and matriculation into stellar society ----- planetary peaceful unity being the only adequate benchmark in these times of profound transition to a new human society and cosmic citizenship. The political problems and conflicts of even recent history are cold ashes, symptoms of the perennial divisive Babel-factoring standstill we have been at that has allowed the ruthless and the predatory to learn to beat, then buy, the house, economically and financially, manipulate the masses and bring us to this obscene state of affairs. The crises we face planetarily today cannot be resolved within the context of our current socio-political-economic paradigm. It's all over. Not only must we address our future from outside the box but the box itself must be reevaluated and redefined.

Yet, whether we chose to acknowledge it or not, we are already well into one of "... those Grand Moments when the whole scale of being is reevaluated" as futurist John Petersen of the Arlington Institute (<http://www.arlingtoninstitute.org>) has characterized it. To this point we have only cataloged the shadows and maladies in our collective psyche. This thesis deals with human existence in terms of IQ, CQ, EQ (intelligence, consciousness, evolutionary quotients). The middle of the bell curve of the human population now shows clearly as having increased and expanded these three quotients to the point where it has outgrown all primitive socio-political-economic paradigms. While we have been focused on our problems in cramped terracentric myopia a set of profound factors has blossomed in our collective consciousness that contains the keys to unlocking the doors of our expanded perception and in which the resolution to the problems and obstacles deeply embedded in our species' and individual psyches' is to be found. These empowering factors range from the multidimensional to the econopolitical.

The overview presented here is meant to be the broadest possible and, perforce, is partially exosociological as well as sociological although I bring it down to the immediate details of survival and political adjustments in Part Three and Four. A caveat: I am a generalist, advisory board member of the Exopolitics Institute (<http://www.exopolitics.org>), contributor to the Arlington Institute think tank (<http://www.arlington.institute.org>) author, lecturer, former commercial/industrial contractor and software developer, college teacher, father of six. A bio is attached at the end of this paper. I cannot say that, although I write from an exosociological-exopolitical overview, that there is universal consensual agreement on all points herein within the exopolitical community. I advance this piece as my best opinion. I would be pleased to enter into dialog by email or phone as appropriate and expedient and to brief you and your staff on request.

This briefing may present material that may not be otherwise in your purview but it is directly and critically related to the national and cultural and planetary interests and security both short and long term, substantially the material, plus, that I was invited to present to an audience of some 40 Pentagon brass a short time ago at the Arlington Institute and which I presented at the Exopolitics Institute conference at Kona, Hawaii in 2006.

The agenda and approach:

Elucidation of the planetary situation, comprehensively subsuming, correcting, discarding or integrating all the partial scenarios being promulgated to solve a host of partial problems.

Development of a scenario of the most efficient, rapid and sapient means of bringing about the Transmutation to the maximum benefit of each individual and the species, which incorporates both long-term cosmic and short-term sociopolitical elements.

Outline and develop a metascenario for planetary, species wide, ongoing, systematic, dynamic integration of future normative scenarios, wild card changes, potentials, events and dimensional expansions of general consciousness both sociologically and exosociologically in terms of IQ, CQ and EQ (Intelligence, Consciousness, Evolutionary Quotients).

The goal is simple: implementation of this metascenario will effect a consensual, planet wide, peaceful unification of our conflicted, divided species, beyond nation, religion, culture, civilization in terms of generic humanity, thereby breaking species standstill, enabling us to consensually self-transmute and meet the conditions for entrance into stellar society. This paper is an invitation to you as an expert, "winner", insider, thinker, concerned human to contribute the concepts needed to implement the expansion of species intelligence, consciousness and evolutionary development from cosmic to practical to define the direction of the trajectory and accelerate the Transmutation.

Part 1 is an overview of the most advanced new paradigm of the human situation and the transformation to a new human society into which we are already moving.

Part 2 is a list of dangers and threats that are most critical to human survival prioritized according to severity.

Part 3 is a list of pivotal technological advances and knowledge that will enable the species Sapiens to transcend the current standstill and matriculate to stellar society. There are potentials that we are not taking advantage of, dangers that must be addressed and which may be used as leverage toward national and planetary unity and information and concepts and technologies, some unfortunately withheld from us, which can be used for the good of all as we transform.

Part 4 contains suggestions for approaches to the national and world population politically that are generated by the potential of ideas and technologies presented herein. As stated above, I would be willing to do an in-person briefing of your staff on these matters on request and to answer questions or enter into dialog by email or phone as appropriate and expedient.

The present evolutionary crisis of humans on planet Earth is that of a final examination for their continuance in Universe. It is not an examination of political, economic, or religious systems, but of the integrity of each and all-individual humans' responsible thinking and unselfish response to the acceleration in evolution's evermore-unprecedented events.

Buckminster Fuller

Part One

The most comprehensive, overarching paradigm of the current planetary human situation has three major components, two of an Exosocial (off planet, alien to human relational) character, which I designate as the Exo-solar system and the Intra-solar system situations, and the third as the Transitional Terran situation.

The Exo-solar system situation: We are being observed, monitored, abducted, examined, contacted, instructed by a large variety of alien civilizations many of who have been here or visit here for thousands to millions of years. We are being invited into stellar society by some of the more advanced species and have been given the rules for matriculation: you get admitted when you reach a species wide, planetary state of unity and peacefulness and you don't take weapons into space - --- or you don't get admitted. These essential conditions will not be met until we move beyond the Babel-factoring of religious absolutes, at root of most wars and our primitive conflicts, through the restoration of our true history as generic humans. We do not agree about who and what we are and kill each other over those innocent questions.

How adolescent and confused a species are we? We search intently for subtle radio whispers of alien existence in deep space while alien craft strive for our attention in our skies. We call them demons while speculating on how enlightened and intelligent advanced beings must be. We put down reports of contact as hallucination while our military employs remote viewing to gain knowledge of alien technology. We attempt to shoot down alien craft while advanced species hover patiently waiting for signs of our sufficient maturation and self-knowledge and peacefulness to be comfortable for overt general contact. We are indeed rising but in a halting and confused mode, uncertain even about what our preferred future really is. We cannot continue to try to force our way into space, backing into it as if no one else was there. We need to move from a terracentric focus and become an exosocial species, and soon.

The exopolitical approach and agenda is beginning to be rapidly recognized in Canada supported by Paul Hellyer former Minister of Defense, and other countries are ahead of the United States in realistic comprehension, vision and disclosure. Exopolitics ---- actually should be understood as a subset category of exosociology --- is focused beyond the "UFO" phenomenon on actual overt contact and interaction. It is well to ask oneself the simple question: What would we be doing if the controllers actually made full disclosure of the alien presence today? Are we prepared for overt alien general contact? Please read items, which the mainstream "news" would call "fringy" or "conspiracy theory" with an open mind.

The Intra-solar system situation: The archaeological, historical, anthropological, astronomical information and artifacts recovered and translated over the last 150 years primarily from the Middle East have afforded us the opportunity to totally reinterpret our ancient history. Von Daniken asked questions we could not answer about the ooparts (out of place artifacts --- tools, toys, technology, architecture, devices --- in time) recovered in archaeological digs and ruins.

Zecharia Sitchin, one of 200 Sumerian scholars on the planet who can read a cuneiform clay tablet like you and I can read a newspaper (<http://www.sitchin.com>) working from 40 years of research, study and translation, has provided a detailed reinterpretation of that history which had become to be considered mythological: the transcultural "gods" known to all the ancient civilizations were not mythological but flesh and blood humanoid aliens from the tenth planet in our solar system who colonized Earth and created our species by genetic engineering. A full treatment and substantiating evidence of the Sitchin thesis may be found at <http://www.neilfreer.com/SRPAGE5.html>. A brief synopsis is as follows:

Working from the same archaeological discoveries, artifacts, and recovered records as archaeologists and linguists have for two hundred years, Sitchin propounds – proves, in the opinion of this author --that the Anunnaki (Sumerian: "those who came down from the heavens"; Old testament Hebrew, Anakeim, Nefilim, Elohim; Egyptian: Neter), an advanced civilization from the tenth planet in our solar system, splashed down in the Persian gulf area around 432,000 years ago, colonized the planet, with the purpose of obtaining large quantities of gold. Some 250,000 years ago, the recovered documents tell us, their lower echelon miners rebelled against the conditions in the mines and the Anunnaki directorate decided to create a creature to take their place. Enki, their chief scientist and Ninhursag their chief medical officer, after getting no satisfactory results splicing animal and Homo Erectus genes, merged their Anunnaki genes with that of Homo Erectus and produced us, Homo Sapiens, a genetically bicameral species, for their purposes as slaves. Because we were a hybrid, we could not procreate. The demand for us as workers became greater and we were genetically manipulated to reproduce.

Eventually, we became so numerous that some of us were expelled from the Anunnaki city centers, gradually spreading over the planet. Having become a stable genetic stock and developing more precociously than, perhaps, the Anunnaki had anticipated, the Anunnaki began to be attracted to humans as sexual partners and children were born of these unions. This was unacceptable to the majority of the Anunnaki high council and it was decided to wipe out the human population through a flood that was predictable when Nibiru, the tenth in our solar system and the Anunnaki home planet, came through the inner solar system again (around 12,500 years ago) on one of its periodic 3600-year returns. Some humans were saved by the action of the Anunnaki official, Enki, who was sympathetic to the humans he had originally genetically created. For thousands of years, we were their slaves, their workers, their servants, and their soldiers in their political battles among themselves. The Anunnaki used us in the construction of their palaces (we retroproject the religious notion of temple on these now), their cities, their mining and refining complexes and their astronomical installations on all the continents. They expanded from Mesopotamia to Egypt to India to South and Central America and the stamp of their presence can be found in the farthest reaches of the planet.

Around 6000 years ago, they, probably realizing that they were going to phase off the planet, began, gradually, to bring humans to independence. Sumer, a human civilization, amazing in its “sudden”, mature, and highly advanced character was set up under their tutelage in Mesopotamia. Human kings were inaugurated as go-betweens, foremen of the human populations answering to the Anunnaki. A strain of humans, genetically enhanced with more Anunnaki genes, a bloodline (passing the office through procreative genetic transmission) of rulers in a tradition of “servants of the people” was initiated (Gardner). These designated humans were taught technology, mathematics, astronomy, advanced crafts and the ways of advanced civilized society (in schools, called now “mystery schools” but there was no mystery about them). Sir Laurence Gardner has brought to light the fact that there exists a robust, highly documented, genealogical, genetic history carrying all the way back to the Anunnaki, possessed by the heterodox tradition of Christianity, which is only now coming forward, no longer gun shy of the Inquisition. This tradition, preserving the bloodline, is the one branded “heretical” and murderously persecuted by the Roman Church. There were no Dark Ages for this tradition, only for those whom the Church wanted to keep in the dark about the real nature of human history and destroy the bloodline, a direct threat to the power of the Bishops. Gardner’s extensive historical documentation includes the restoration of the real nature and history of alchemy: the manufacture and use of monatomic gold, a single atom form of gold, a fine white powder with extraordinary characteristics (superconductor at body temperature; antigravitic; capable of correcting DNA abnormalities) ingested for extreme longevity and fed to the graal kings for wisdom enhancement.

I worked out the ramifications and benefits of this disclosure and Sitchin's material twenty years ago, '87, in Breaking the Godspell and followed it with God Games: What Do You Do Forever in '98. Two Anunnaki brothers who ran the colony here, Enlil who is/was Jehovah/Yahweh and Enki who was/is Adonai/the Lord, i.e. together were/are the "mono" god(s), God, of the Old and New Testament, of Abraham, were gradually cosmified, infinitized by the theologians and the Roman Church. The reason why Elohim, a plural noun, was used for the "one" God of the Hebrews is obvious. The major religions would be history, not to make a bad pun; there could be disruption in society as predicted in the 50's by the Brookings Institute study although minimal by this time; Karl Rove types could no longer play the radical fundamentalists like a violin for their vote, we could no longer be kept Babel-factored into conflicting factions for easy crowd control, etc.

The constant internecine warfare in which we slaughter each other is due largely to religious absolutes concerning who and what we are and because the "my god is better than your god" syndrome keeps us close to destroying ourselves and the planet. The only way we are going to meet the essential conditions of peace and unity is to restore our true history to ourselves as a genetically engineered species by the Anunnaki; see that the creationists and the evolutionists are both half right and half wrong (there was a creation but in a genetic engineering lab and we are evolving but not according to the principles or pace of Darwinian evolution); arrive at planetary unity as generic humans beyond religion(s) as we know them (sublimations, extensions of the ancient master slave relationship for which we were invented). This is not atheism, does not even address the question as to whether there is some metatranscendental Being who is responsible for all that is, multiple universes, beyond beyond and infinity ---- which should remain the focus of human inquiry ----- it just rectifies some very significant politics, takes us beyond the "my god is better than your god" insanity that Babel-factors us and opens up the potential for world peace and unity, the essential conditions for matriculation into stellar society. This breaking of the godspell should be recognized as just one more step in the sequence which has seen the rejection of the flat earth doctrine, the recognition of the heliocentric physics, the disavowing of the doctrine that the world was created in 4004 B.C. in the month of October, the recognition that the book of Genesis is a skewed rewrite of the Sumerian histories and the Enuma Elish, the public change of attitude and position on the part of the Vatican with regard to the alien phenomenon and the Anunnaki, etc.

Part Two

A list of critical issues and items according to the fundamental reality of the current world situation prioritized according to the degree of danger, threat, or potential for advancing the species Sapiens. The first three most crucial items all are the focus of recognized cover-ups: Planet X; the alien presence; the advanced technology acquired from alien crashes or donation that could be released to the benefit of the entire population of the planet. We cannot afford to deal with these grave matters according to academic or political correctness, strategy or expediency, or be intimidated as citizens, scientists, academics or politicians.

1> The most dangerous item: The Tenth Planet of our solar system, known in the Sumerian as Nibiru (Planet of the Passing) rediscovered by the IRAS (NASA-Dutch Infrared Imaging Satellite) orbited to look for it in '83, constitutes a planetary wide, species threat to Earth through cataclysmic gravitational upheaving of the Earth and it's existence is being covered up and denied the public. Tombaugh, looking for a tenth planet, discovered Pluto in 1930 in the solar ecliptic plane in which he was searching but did not find a tenth planet. Subsequently, "residuals", wavelike, up and down movements in the solar ecliptic plane orbits of Uranus and Neptune indicated the existence of a tenth planet. Sitchin published his first book in 1976, The Twelfth Planet (the ancients had been taught and knew all the planets of our system and counted traditionally all ten plus the Sun and our Moon as twelve solar system bodies as depicted on this 4500 year old cylinder seal, VA 243 (<http://www.sitchin.com/teapot.htm> --- click on "back" button to return to this page).

Planet X / Nibiru is called, depending on the tribal or cultural tradition, the Purifier / Destroyer / Frightener / Doomdragon / Phaeton (Greek) / the "Red Sun" of the Hopi / the Wormwood of the New Testament Book of Revelations and may well be what the advanced Mayan astronomy, taught to them by the Anunnaki individual, Ningishzida (son of Enki, known to the Egyptians as Thoth, and as Quetzacoatl in Mesoamerica) is talking about with regard to 2012 although Sitchin calculates the year 2078 for its actual return. (My personal opinion is that 2012 make mark the return of one or more of the Anunnaki, not the planet, probably to the Central America region. Clearly this will be of highest significance to the entire species, planet wide. Anticipatory study, consideration of potential preparation and the ramifications are of prime necessity.) This Uranus, perhaps Neptune, sized planet is both an overriding, horrendous threat to species survival and a main point of leverage to unite the people of our planet for survival. The exact date of its return is not critical but the simple fact of its return soon is a matter of grave import.

The IRAS infrared telescope was orbited by a Dutch-NASA program in '83 and their findings and conclusions were announced six times, the last one being by Ray Reynolds of the Ames Research Center, astronomer member of the team, in the NY Times, January 30th, 1983, saying: "Astronomers are so sure of the tenth planet that they think there is nothing left but to name it". A number of web sources have developed concerning Planet X / Nibiru, chief among them some promulgating the theory that X / Nibiru is not a planet but a brown dwarf star. However, Dr. John Andersen of NASA confirmed already in '87 that, having received the data from the twin Pioneer space craft sent out in opposite directions in the plane of the solar system ecliptic, X / Nibiru was definitively not "a brown dwarf" or "a failed star". Some theorize that the highly elongated orbit of X / Nibiru suggests that our sun has a twin star around which it also orbits but this twin would have long ago been identified. It's elongated, 3600 year orbit is due to it's being captured into the solar system and colliding with a planet in orbit now known as the Asteroid belt as given in detail in the ancient records taught to us by the Anunnaki.

In the early 90's, Harrington, Chief of the Naval Observatory, having read Zecharia Sitchin's book, The Twelfth Planet, invited Sitchin to his office at the NO for an interview/conference. As a convenient source, see (<http://xfacts.com/x1.htm>, click on "See the Video" and then back button to return to this page) Harrington and Sitchin correlated the ancient information with that which Harrington had accumulated from the Pioneer and other probes, Andersen's information, computer studies, clues from other planets, the IRAS information and Harrington acknowledged the total correspondence between the two sets of information, even adding to it and said that he, by then, was quite certain that X was "a nice, good planet with an atmosphere in which we could be comfortable" (!). Soon after he sent a scope and team to the southern hemisphere for a visual (since it is known to travel on a 40 degree pitch "below" the ecliptic). He subsequently traveled there for a visual himself but died shortly afterward before publishing. Some feel that, because he was going public so openly on the topic, he was "Wellstoned". The reason for the obvious cover-up and intimidation of astronomers into silence about X is that

A> Disclosure would immediately open up the truth of the existence of the Anunnaki

B> Disclosure of the existence, characteristics, size and orbit of Nibiru/X ---- no doubt known to insiders since the IRAS revelations and certainly tracked carefully since somewhere inside ---- would very quickly reveal the danger of potential extinction of our species (as example: see book Cataclysm! by geophysicists Allan and Delair for excellent study of the "Flood" event of the Bible and the Sumerian records), The Old Testament is simply a rewrite of much more precise histories from the Sumerian, Babylonian, Hittite, Akadian. The almost children's' story version of the Flood in the OT would make the Flood seem as if it was just a tsunami that swept up through the middle east but it was actually a cataclysmic upheaving of the entire planet Earth, leaving surviving humans over the entire planet in perhaps hundreds if barely a thousand plus. It was caused by the Passing of Nibiru/X (they use the Greek name, Phaeton) around 9500 B.C. by their calculation.

Not all Passings of Nibiru at perigee between Mars and Jupiter cause cataclysmic effects, apparently depending on whether the Earth is on the same side or the opposite side of the Sun and, therefore, shielded to a degree. This information should be released to the public over the entire planet, since Nibiru is on the way back in as global warming, argued as caused by emissions pollution or heightened solar activity is most probably caused by the approach of the Uranus to Neptune sized tenth planet to the inner solar system and the people are not being warned or instructed. I submit that the denial or warping of information about global warming by the current administration is motivated primarily by their knowledge of the effects and threat of X and their inability to do much about it without exposing their real agenda nationally and internationally. Intelligent measures should be taken now in anticipation of huge population movements and redistribution, development of secure pure water, food and housing and fundamental services transnationally.

Presidents Reagan and Gorbachev got together on the topic of "a threat from the outside" (see Genesis Revisited by Sitchin for details and ramifications of their meeting) very possibly under the impetus of their knowledge of the alien presence and possibly just this knowledge of the incoming Nibiru / X, and were able to effect a good deal. It needs to be taken much further. We should not be so proud as to refuse to turn to help from the Anunnaki. Military and former military trained remote viewers (see Alien Agenda by Jim Marrs chapters on remote viewer reports) have said that various alien species with whom they have made contact have communicated to them that some of them are actually working to modify planetary orbits ---- as awesome as that may sound ---- out of concern for us to minimize the effects of the next Passing. The current power playing controllers cannot do much about it so they seem to just ignore and suppress it ---- although a great deal could and should be done for the protection and survival of the population ---- and it may well be that the underground installations all over the country and world are meant to save those who consider themselves the elite. Reports of a high level U.N. meeting, February 12-14th 2008, on the topic of the alien presence have surfaced.

The spectrum of opinions among those who are most knowledgeable about the alien situation concerning how we should understand and react to them ranges from a negative suspicion engendering a militant and defensive posture from fear of being taken over to those who hold to a “just tell them to go away” isolationist position to those who work toward a cautious but intelligent seeking of interspecies understanding, communication and interaction. I am of the latter opinion. We are not going to find another universe to inhabit. The cosmos is as it is; advanced alien species that wished to take over and enslave us could have done so at any time. Evolutionarily and technologically advanced species do not need anything from us.

It will not demean our dignity to realistically recognize our species' adolescence, learn the rules of advanced stellar society and pass the stellar SAT's. It would seem that the Anunnaki, although more advanced technologically than we, are faced with the same qualifying requirements. Because, as we have been informed by other advanced species, the Anunnaki created us “for the wrong reasons” and have persisted in less than evolved conflicting attitudes toward us, they must rectify those conditions before being allowed to matriculate also. The self-knowledge and self-confidence we gain from acknowledging our half-alien Anunnaki origins and heritage and resolving our issues with the Anunnaki as a mature species are essential to both our ultimate survival --- mutual effort to solve the problem of the Passing would be advantageous to both our species. Reaching a consensual understanding of generic humanity will see the realization of a common reevolutionary trajectory along which we can mutually support and cooperate to the maximum freedom of the individual and the rapid progress of our species.

General references for this topic:

Zecharia Sitchin: The Twelfth Planet, The Wars of Gods and Men, The Stairway to Heaven, When Time Began, The Lost Realms, Genesis Revisited

Sir Laurence Gardner: Bloodline of the Holy Grail, Genesis of the Grail Kings

Neil Freer: Breaking the Godspell, <http://www.neilfreer.com> White papers on Index page.

Allan & Delair: Cataclysm!

2> Exo-solar system alien civilizations are obviously here and we are being invited into stellar society if we can meet the conditions for matriculation. We have been given the basic rules, conditions, for admission: you go as a peaceful, united species, no weapons in space.

I was abducted and tweaked at 6 years of age in '36 and contacted at 12 in '42 by Anunnaki androids (the leader told me they were), asked to help the Anunnaki get reintroduced into the planet, agreed, middle of the night typical blue cloud field contact, telepathic communication, pleasant, respectful, stuffed a big ball of info into my head that I didn't understand and said it would be for much later like when I was in my seventies (and here I am at 78). I told parents who spoke to priest, etc. They came back in two months in waking hours over the house, my father, a hard nosed, Poughkeepsie, NY cop hanging out the second story window sitting on window sill backwards with me looking up at the ship in the night sky surrounded in light no more than two hundred feet right above the house for about 2 minutes, took off like going into warp drive totally silent, considerate enough to come back and reassure the parents that this kid, five years before Roswell, was not going bonkers. So I have known for all these 60 plus years but we've got reams of evidence, pictures, videotapes, we've got Phil Corso, Steven Greer's Disclosure project of 400 plus witnesses, MUFON, contact with governments and the Vatican, and the sightings, contacts, are getting more and more overt and frequent...and interesting.

I was speaker at the 2006 Kona Exopolitics conference (<http://www.exopolitics.org>) and had the pleasure of meeting the keynote speaker, Paul Hellyer, former Defense Minister of Canada who testifies and demands disclosure and release of the advanced tech gotten and back engineered from alien craft for the good of the people. There has been an obvious cover-up of alien contact since before Roswell, but the population of the Earth is more than ready for overt contact; almost 85%, conservatively, of the population of the U.S. believes that there are alien civilizations and some are already here. The drive within the general population to expand to alien contact and stellar citizenship is potentiated to break the godspell, arrive at generic humanity, planetary peace and unity. Paul Hellyer would be a good person to associate with your efforts.

3> Non-disclosure of the real alien situation has afforded suppression of the advanced antigrav and free energy technology that will resolve the energy crisis and transcend the illusion of competition for limited resources. The military and controllers should not be allowed to conceal these technologies on the basis of potential weapons to die for or to abet the oil, energy and arms industries in which they are proprietary. But disclosure of both the alien presence, our acquisition of advanced technology and its release into the population for the transition to a new society and economy must be brought about. New Mexico, with our history of alien contact, assimilation of alien technology at Sandia and Los Alamos, is put at the natural forefront of disclosure, intelligent use of advanced technology, free to develop free energy and nanotech.

As well pointed out by Dr. Stephen Greer along with the 400 military and civilian individuals of the Disclosure Project who are willing to testify before Congress as to the alien presence, their personal knowledge of, sometimes contact with, alien species in their careers, the cover-up prevents the advanced technologies of antigravity, free energy and advanced materials from being available to the general public.

"Free" energy is defined as: a kind of energy that exists throughout the universe at the quantum level, sometimes called "zero point" energy. It is said that a cubic meter of space any place in the universe contains more free energy than all the electromagnetic spectrum energies known to physics in the entire universe combined. An extraction device, tapping free energy and converting it to electrical current, need not have any moving parts. It has only to consist of a special extraction coil, a rectification and conversion unit and coil and an output circuit. (Reference: <http://www.cheniere.org>) These units are called over-unity devices because, once started, a tiny bit of the energy output is fed back to the extraction coil to keep it energized and extracting. Over-unity means that it puts out more energy than is required to keep it running. Ratios of 5 to 100 to 1 have been reported.

Just the two, nanotechnology and free energy, have the potential to transform the economic situation of the planet from the illusion of necessity to compete for limited resources and the reliance on oil, nuclear, solar, wind, wave, geothermal, etc. to one of plenty for everyone and the elimination of the primitive situation that causes there to be winners and losers, war, poverty, and prevents us from being accepted into stellar society. By adding the refinements of artificial intelligence and biomimicry we we will be able to progress exponentially and make the transition in the short time required.

The supply of oil still left should be intelligently directed to the needs and applications of transforming industry to the technology of free energy, which, in turn, reflexively furthers it's own development. The implementation of free energy extraction devices will eliminate the necessity of the current, not to make a bad pun, power generation stations and transmission lines and heavy infrastructure as all power needs can be met by local devices from watches to 747's. Alternative energy sources, solar, wind, wave, biofuel, nuclear, etc. should be seen as temporary transitional energy sources and free energy the next plateau.

The cautionary protests that nanotech could get away from us and destroy the environment and us are certainly to be respected and paid attention but, as with any new and powerful technology, there are methodologies for enlightened and intelligent development and control and employment. Presidents have tried to get the information released, disclosed, and have paid a price for that, but this is cold ashes by now and waiting for the suppressors and controllers to admit and disclose is useless and counterproductive. Grant them amnesty and buy'em a good set of golf clubs and membership in a good nursing home and let's get on with real exopolitical studies and development of agendas and protocols for intelligent contact and interaction with alien species as a maturing species just stepping out of racial adolescence.

Amnesty is a key mode of operation in this time of transition. It should be applied in the case of those who, sincerely or insincerely, imposed and have maintained suppression of the general subject of the alien presence, have withheld or suppressed advanced alien or human technology, are suppressing the existence and potential threat of Planet X / Nibiru, providing only that they relent and release honestly.

Amnesty should also be extended to those who, knowingly or unknowingly, sincerely or insincerely, have taught, promulgated, imposed, religious concepts, doctrines and historical interpretations or suppressed them in contradiction of our real species history to the detriment of the species, providing only they relent and recant.

The “golden rule” applies at the planetary level: an individual or group is guaranteed the freedom to act and do as desired with the only restriction that no action is allowed that prevents another from exercising the same degree of freedom.

A major element of leverage for releasing this information and technology is the example and, to a degree, competition of other countries around the world who are moving forward in this direction: Spain, Belgium, France, England, Brazil, China, India, Russia, Mexico all are showing real progress.

4> Free energy and nanotechnology, developed and applied correctly, provide and afford us, as a species, the means to establish a transmuted socio-economic system which can provide plenty for all and transcend the primitive stage of competition for ostensibly limited resources to a stage of planetary cooperation.

There is an entirely new type of socio-economic system required, afforded, engendered by the combination of free energy and nanotechnology. It will be immanently, inherently ecological and eliminate the ecological disasters and problems we currently experience. It will supersede the primitive competition for imputed limited resources modality of today. It will be beyond capitalism, communism, and socialism. Understood and gracefully transitioned to, it will make possible the provision of a basic comfortable living for every individual in an almost unlimited planetary population. Anyone who needs or wants something, both material and intellectual, may have it. The challenge to our best minds and their expertise is to develop the means of transition.

The end product and effect of nanotechnology is to afford us the ability to make anything out of anything. We would be able to mine our waste dumps and eliminate pollution and support an almost unlimited population, transforming our economies to one of cooperative provision of a very comfortable life for every individual on the planet. Nanotech will allow for the development of "universal" plant protein bases from which to make any kind of food from meat to veggies to cake. Fully developed nanotech, combined with free energy, will also require far less energy generally than current industrial processes and a complete recycling of all materials is inherently a part of the process.

The combination of free energy with nanotech will allow for the on the spot making of just about anything requested by a manufacturer, consumer, diner, homemaker, eventually making the Star Trek scene where Picard tells the computer he wishes a cup of Earl Grey tea and it comes out of the "machine" as a nano created cup, saucer, spoon, hot tea. Eric introduced the concepts in The Engines of Creation long ago and they will soon be a total reality.

Currently (2008) genetic scientists like Craig Venter, the director of the private program to read out the entire human genome, have reached a level of knowledge and expertise that enables them to assemble various genetic components from various organisms and create an entirely new living organism. Actual working machines and devices can be and are created by constructing them one atom at a time. Practical applications of such techniques are already manifesting in various industries.

As the genetic expertise increases, quite soon it should allow understanding and codification of a higher level programming language, which can then be "compiled" through nanotech techniques into actual physical, molecular instruction combinations and physical objects. These "compiled" physical molecular structures, nanomeme instructions, could be biological DNA instructions or analogous to DNA as suggested by Eric Drexler (Engines of Creation), intended to create other than biological items when introduced into appropriate mediums of raw materials. These novel concepts require a bit of illustration. The example Drexler gives is that used to create a rocket ship ready to blast off: one builds a 40 story high tank wider than the body of the spaceship desired, fills the tank with a soup of liquid raw materials, tosses in a handful of molecular instructions and a rocket ship is gradually constructed by those molecular instructions using the raw materials like the DNA instructions builds the proteins and various substances and organizes them to create a mouse or a human being. Once completed, the tank is taken away, the astronauts enter the ship which is finished right down to the seatbelts, radios, instruments, all details, and the fuel tanks are full, all is ready for takeoff.

Free energy devices, from minute to macro size, some patented, already available for production, (see <http://www.cheniery.org>, dvd's available) developed on a Manhattan type crash program basis and distributed to third world countries as well as incorporated in advanced countries would eliminate the dependence on coal, nuclear and oil (the reason why they are being suppressed and people have died around it) as well as the traditional and newer alternative energy sources. The farming industry will require major changes and upgrading as well as the elimination of the need for petroleum based fertilizers, pesticides, herbicides, etc.

We need to develop a comprehensive way to transition industry and government and economy smoothly and comfortably to the inevitable new phase of free-energy-nanotech. A few basic principles are as follows:

Ideally, legitimate industries and businesses must be shown a way in which they can easily transition from their current production modes of their current products to the production of novel products through novel production modes without financial stress, loss of jobs, loss of customer base as a first step towards an even more fundamental shift to a "leisure" society.

Information industries are already well into this transition phase. Infrastructure conversion, adaptation, adjustment, implementation is more or less a challenge depending on distribution infrastructure required. The local production of energy (example: small suitcase size, self-contained free energy device in the house utility room supplies all household needs plus, no need for utility companies) radically transforms power production and eliminates distribution grids, transportation, and pollution and radically reduces cost. The units of whatever size must be manufactured but manufacturing becomes radically transformed also.

An interesting question arises when one contemplates what technology will follow, supersede, replace, the current electronic and wireless information transfer systems. It is not too advanced to consider mental and simulated mental modalities. It is not beyond speculating that our educational systems of the future will routinely supply information that can be received directly by the human mind, allowing the young and specialists to communicate at a distance as the military has already trained selected persons, some tweaked in the womb for it, to do. It is not too advanced to consider transmitting devices that will broadcast continually any information conceivable direct to any inquiring mind. Artificial intelligence will gradually develop on a self-referential basis as the “brains” of the free energy-nanotech modality. See <http://www.neilfreer.com/SRPAGE10.html> for a discussion of the potential and trajectory of AI.

The achieving of planetary peace and unity will see the transformation of militaries into skilled service organizations dispatchable from any country to locations where they are needed in emergency situations or required to build up the infrastructure of an emerging area, repair a damaged one or contribute to teaching advanced methods of manufacture or farming, economics, as needed. The Peace Corp is simply an early form of this kind of service organization.

5> The basic provision of pure water to the entire population must be removed from the economic and political sphere and nationalized if necessary for survival and guaranteed as a basic human right: we must initiate the engineering, development and construction of a national and even transnational water catchment and distribution system. Nanotechnology can provide an unlimited food supply to an unlimited population and can solve the water purity situation worldwide. Free energy (zero point "vacuum" energy) can afford unlimited non-polluting energy locally to the entire world for the drilling and pumping of water supplies. Nanotechnology can easily produce pure water locally. Suppression of these technologies must be eliminated.

The problem of water supply, processing and distribution is also a natural situation for New Mexico to take the lead in and it can be demonstrated here what should be done on a national --- even transnational --- scale. Every spring peoples' houses float down the flooded rivers of the East when the West is in perpetual semi-drought. This will be highly exacerbated by global warming.

A national system of capturing the abundant water of the wet portions of the U.S. in easily created: basins and reservoirs, coupled with piping systems ---- that could take advantage of the excavation, grading and routing of existing oil and gas pipelines --- that distributed good water through computer controlled sensors, valving and pumping to wherever in the U.S. it is needed could not only open up new organic farming lands affording current soils a rest, but be piped to special reservoirs in areas prone to forest fires, and special processing stations where it was rigorously purified for consumption, or to industries for processing use. A built in recycling return system would be an integral part of the system.

The survival necessity of constant and pure water supply is sufficient leverage to initiate and justify this project, which should be given highest priority. The water of this planet is not going any place but it must be respected and treated as a precious resource by all. Water should be understood and treated as a basic human right and the system nationalized and pure water never denied anyone or source rights bought up and controlled by any individual or corporation or entity.

7> Electronic public input and voting is inevitable and can be secure through the modality of open source programming, available 24/7/365 through secure personal access from any home or public station, gradually upgraded through the implementation of artificial intelligence to a highly beneficial system eliminating the primitive form of government of representation by strangers. A second Constitution, addressing the rights of the individual to an even more profound degree may well be appropriate. The needs, desires, visions or emergencies of each individual, group, region can be addressed and integrated and benefits maximized through constant input and feedback, evaluation, information transfer, economic allocation and response magnitudes more intelligently, efficiently, faster than bureaucratic methods. Open source computer programming is a key concept here. I have outlined this type of system which I have called Voton in a concept paper, Appendix C, my website <http://www.neilfreer.com/SRPAGE7.html>

8> The educational systems need to be restored from the dumbing down of America to a superior advanced mode addressing all three elements of IQ, CQ and EQ, Intelligence, Consciousness, and Evolutionary quotients as we move into a transmutation of humanity and human society as cosmic citizens. In order to achieve this superior modality we must arrive at a consensual understanding of generic humanity and a common reevolutionary trajectory. The term reevolution is coined and used here to contrast our accelerated and truncated development as a self-directed, synthesized species with the lengthy periodicities of development by survival of the fittest of “natural” species.

9> It may seem totally contradictory against the dangers and darkness of the disconcerting indictment laid out so far but I say here, confidently and without equivocation, that this time is the end game of an age, be certain, but it is the opening of a new dimension of human existence, the scope and exhilarating depth of which we have hardly begun to perceive. A new human and a new civilization, beyond our primitive beginnings, beyond religion and the old new age are on the horizon. Immortality or at least extreme longevity, a whole new phase of human existence, will be a major conditioning factor. The relationship between potential extreme longevity – immortality and world population growth is immediately apparent. It may not be unreasonable to anticipate that the aging process and death will be understood and controlled and then eliminated within a relatively short period of time. Currently companies such as Alcor (Scottsdale, AZ) have a growing number of clients stored in cryogenic suspension anticipating revivification. The expectation is that revivification will also involve curing of any disease or infirmity, and restoration to a reasonable young and stable age. Within the context of the current primitive competitive paradigm immortality is often seen by the concerned as exacerbating the population problem because more will be alive for longer. Again, a cooperative modality using free energy local power sourcing combined with mature nanotech processes having revolutionized material existence, the species will be freed to explore the psychology, sociology and dimensionality of immortality --- a matter, fundamentally, of simple human potential and dignity.

The intimately interrelated factors dealt with here, paramount at the leading edge of our species' unfurlment, can and are bringing about in our species --- whether acknowledged “officially” or not, whether denied or suppressed in the collective consciousness or not ---- a transmutation of our species, beyond cultures and civilizations, already beginning to emerge inexorably in this century. The engine of this transmutation is our nature itself unfurling as part of the unfurlment of the universe. The transmutation to the new human can be endured without understanding and many lost in a ridiculous kind of Darwinian thinning of an unconscious herd or it can be a planetary triumph and transformation of the entire species through conscious participation and contribution beyond anything known previously. Translation of these points into political ideals and goals should not be difficult because, in spite of suppression and manipulation, they have found their way into the common consciousness and need only an inspiring, motivating focus to realize them.

This the end time of our species' bewildered adolescence and our transformation into a mature stellar species has already begun. Let us reclaim our planetary identity, our own cosmic credentials and genetic wisdom, and prepare as a united planet, in the only adequate, truly planetary, right new world order, to matriculate into the heavens, into space, into stellar society as, finally, Sapiens Sapiens, the truly doubly wise. I stand to speak for and to all of us, to urge all to make it so for our children and ourselves.

The Author

NEIL FREER is a researcher, writer, lecturer, philosopher and poet living in Santa Fe, NM. Neil and his wife, Ursula, have lived in the Eldorado area since 1994. Neil holds a BA in English and did graduate work in Philosophy and Psychology at the New School for Social Research. (Purposely foregone graduate degrees because they focus one more and more narrowly on a particular specialization, tend to constrain one's thought and exploration to the established, consensual paradigm of the moment and bind one to tenure, peer and funding pressures.) He has taught college courses in Philosophy and History of Religion, gives private and public seminars and lectures and has done over two hundred fifty radio and TV interviews. Neil is the author of Breaking the Godspell; a book which explores the ramifications of the archaeological, astronomical and genetic proof for our being a genetically engineered species and presents the ramifications of this new paradigm of human nature that, resolves the Creationist-Evolutionary conflict. In his second book, God Games: What Do You Do Forever? He explores the ways in which we will live when, individually and collectively, we attain the unassailable integrity afforded by the restoration of our true genetic history. He outlines the species maturity of the new planetary civilization and describes the "god games" of immortality, four dimensional consciousness, and life after the Law Of Everything, alien contact that the new human will play.

Neil's work has appeared as part of the symposium, Of Heaven and Earth (Book Tree, Sitchin Day special event at the International Association For New Science conference in 1996. An essay "In The Middle of Whose Ship Are You Standing?" is included in David Pursglove's Zen And The Art Of Close Encounters. A one-hour interview with Jeffery Mishlove on Thinking Allowed was aired nationwide on PBS TV September 13th, 1999. He has presented at the Sedona Millennium Conference and The Prophets Conferences. Neil was keynote speaker at the International MUFON conference in Dearborn, MI in July of 2003. He has presented at the Arlington Institute, a Washington, D.C. futurist think tank to an audience of Pentagon officers. His most recent presentations: The Exopolitics Conference (<http://www.exopolitics.org>) in Kona, Hawaii and The ECETI conference (<http://www.eceti.org>) at Trout Lake, WA

Email: neil@neilfreer.com
Website: <http://www.neilfreer.com>